The Carmel Pine Cone

The Carmel Volunteer Fire Department began its existence 50 years ago. The mustachioed fire fighters above seem of that era—but maybe not. The first person to identify the heroes, and the occasion on which they posed, will be awarded one year's free subscription to the Pine Cone.

Carmel Planners See Future Uses For Pebble Beach

Yesterday afternoon, Planning Director Floyd Adams showed to members of the Carmel Planning Commission a map, designating land use in Del Monte Forest, which is part of the plan of all Del Monte Properties Company holdings in Monterey County submitted to the Monterey Peninsula Area Planning Commission and the county.

The Del Monte Forest portion came before Carmel planners because it falls within their three-mile advisory area to the county planning commission.

Mr. Adams noted that Del Monte's plan was not totally in agreement with the Carmel General Plan and not specifically in agreement with the Monterey Peninsula Plan. He added that a tour of all Del Monte holdings is being arranged for planning officials of the regions contained in the plan.

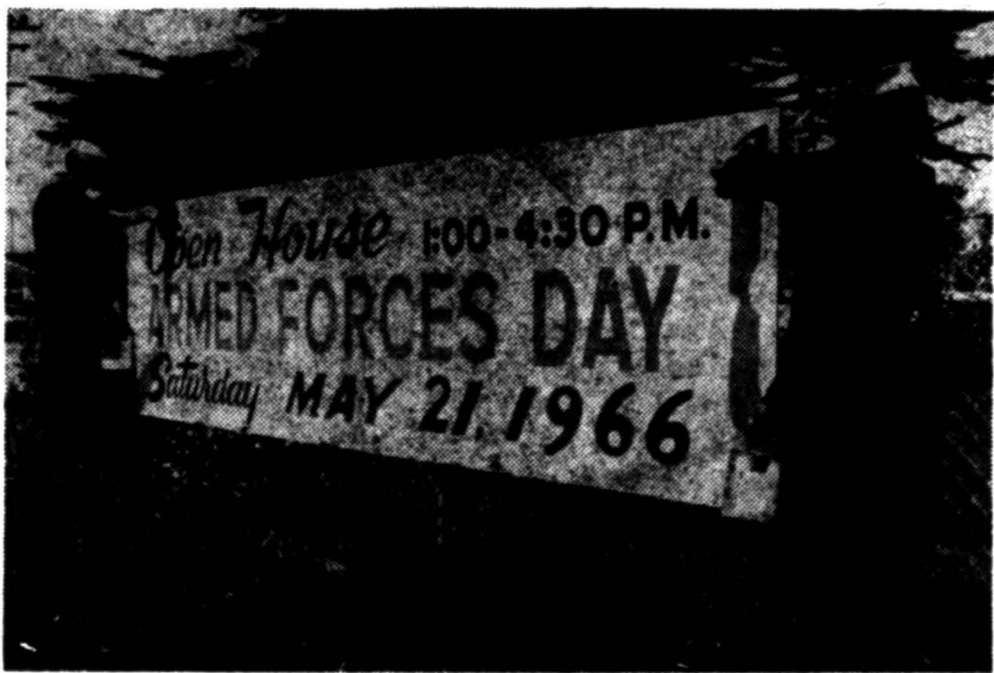

The plan shown yesterday afternoon designated Pescadero Canyon bordering Carmel in greenbelt use. A variety of recreational and visitor accommodation facilities were shown for an area surrounding Del Monte Lodge. Bordering Highway One on Carmel Hill, multi-

By a proclamation of President Lyndon B. Johnson, Saturday has been designated as Armed Forces Day in order that the citizens of the United States may visit and see the various branches of the country's armed forces in action. "A Report to the Nation" is the theme of the open house programs.

POLICE STATION SALE PROTESTED

Excavation of the site for a new police station and corporation yard at Junipero between Fourth and Fifth started this week. On June 8, the city council will receive bids for the purchase of the two-lot site of the present police and public works facilities at Mission and Eighth.

A written protest against the sale of the municipal Mission and Eighth property has been received by City Attorney William Burleigh for presentation to the city council. The protest was made by attorney Patricia Lane acting for a Carmel citizen, Barnet Segal. The protest states that "no final action" has been taken by the city council in respect to the sale of the present police station and corporation yard site. It also contends that the sale "is against the best interests of the city."

No Proscenium Arch Means No Sunset Auditorium

Five of the six Sunset commissioners, sitting in an adjourned budget meeting Monday night, agreed that the issue of tearing down Sunset auditorium would cease to exist if the proscenium arch were to be made smaller or removed to enlarge the forestage, as suggested by a Carmel citizen. Much of the building would collapse of its own accord, since the arch is a supporting member with other supporting steel and trusses dependent on it. The commission moved to "go emphatically on record that we consider, this, as

Humble Oil Halts Plans For Refinery

According to an announcement made in Vallejo on Tuesday, the Humble Oil and Refining Company has discontinued planning and engineering studies for a refinery at Moss Landing in favor of planning study on a site in Solano County near Benicia.

The oil company, however, has not abandoned the 465-acre Moss Landing site it acquired in February, 1965, neither has it made any move to relinquish the use permit for a refinery on this acreage, granted last September by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors.

Tuesday's statement by the oil company said "Although Humble has no immediate plans to use the Moss Landing site, Humble considers the site an excellent industrial location."

Last Friday, Judge Richard Harris of San Luis Obispo, denied a writ of mandate to block any refinery at Moss landing. The blocking move was the last of a series of legal actions brought by the Monterey County Anti-Pollution Association through its attorney William B. Burleigh.

Whether or not Humble's announcement on Tuesday will stop further legal action by the anti-pollution group has not yet been stated. Mr. Burleigh stated yesterday that the next possible move would be to appeal Judge Harris' decision to the District Court of Appeals in San Francisco, within 60 days after the county board of supervisors moves to dismiss the

'Hay Fever' At Studio Theatre Provides Entertaining Evening

BY DUKE EVERTS

Anita Tonn pulled a tough old turkey out of the fire last Friday night and cooked it to a turn when "Hay Fever," a play in three well-paced acts written by Noel Coward, had a successful opening at the Studio Theatre and Restaurant. With a cast of nine, Miss Tonn was by far and away the hit of the show. With an unquestionable ability and thorough knowledge of her role, she pulled, pushed, and cajoled some very fine talent, and some not so very fine, through two hours of what could have been a tragedy.

English comedy needs a fine hand applied to it when done by amateurs. The most unnerving point of the entire evening was a lack of similarity of accents. ANY similarity would have done—either all English, American, or even Swedish.

The plot of the play concerns a rather confusing weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Bliss, in which various guests are invited by each member of the family without the others being aware of the situation. Mr. Bliss, portrayed by Roy Baxter who is to be commended for holding his own against Miss Tonn, is a writer of obvious trash. Mrs. Bliss is a somewhat retired, but not retiring, actress.

The most outstanding guest visiting the country home of the Bliss family was Mrs. Myra Arundel, a vicious little twit and the only guest who can understand the Bliss family. He knows, who is; or in other words, it takes one to know one. As a sort of teaser of men, who uses her beauty and what would be mistaken for charm, Layne Littlepage, in a role that local audiences will find different for her, was excellent. She has very good timing and, for an amateur, that is something to be admired. As a matter of fact, some of the cast could take lessons from her.

Simon Bliss and his sister, Sorel, portrayed, respectively, by Terry Poland and Shawn Guild, were unmistakably spoiled brats. Which just goes to show what happens when "Mothers go on the wicked stage". It's too bad, however, that half their lines were missed in the opening of the show. English comedy should not be done at such a rapid-fire pace that clear enunciation is lost. Apart from that one criticism, which they can take or leave, they were enjoyable.

Luann Brown, who portrayed Jackie Coryton, a dizzy Twenties Flapper (the play takes place in 1925), obviously learned from her director, Michael Keller, that a bit part can command an audience. She mugged, minced, whined, twisted, but didn't overdo it. With just a slight shove from a director with less than Mr. Keller's talent, she could have been unbearable. But she wasn't. She was extremely good, in fact, the cutest little twirp on the stage.

Miss Kay Carlson as a rather put-upon maid, David Roberts in the role of one of Mrs. Bliss' would-be conquests, and Winston Sargent as one of the most wooden Englishmen ever seen anywhere made up the remainder of the cast.

A word for costume design must be included for the costumes were very well executed. Barbara Kawamoto obviously has an eye for color and a nice feeling for period. She didn't overdo it as is often done with the Twenties.

For an entertaining evening out, this play is highly recommended. It runs for eight weeks, more or less; and if you enjoy Noel Coward fluff from the Twenties, this play is for you.

ALL SAINTS' DAY SCHOOL BENEFIT

Planning details of the theatre benefit party for All Saints' Episcopal Day School are (from left to right) Mrs. Edward H. Wedlake, president of the school's Mother's Club, Tom Graff, owner of Carmel's Village Theatre where the party will be held on June 15 at 8 p. m., and Mrs. Jack L. Stein Jr., ticket chairman for the affair. The benefit will open the new theatre at the corner of Dolores and Seventh. Following the showing of "The Agony and the Ecstasy", starring Rex Harrison and Charlton Heston, champagne and refreshments will be served in the patio and garden of All Saints' Church. Danny Lucero and Larry Esquivel, strolling mariachi players, will add to the gaiety here. The fund-raising party is being sponsored by the Mother's Club to aid the building of a combined chapel and multi-use room for the Episcopal day school on Carmel Valley Road.

Mrs. Wedlake is general chairman for the theatre benefit party. Assisting Mrs. Stein with ticket sales are Mrs. Clyn Smith Jr. and Mrs. Arthur Hatley Jr. Publicity is being handled by Mrs. Ralph Thompson Jr. with the help of Mrs. David Hill and Mrs. Peter Farmer. Decorations are being planned by Mrs. William H. Godwin Jr., Mrs. Shreve M. Archer Jr., Mrs. William Wheeler Farrish and Mrs. Jack Polikoff. The reception and arrangements committee consists of Mrs. Charles Downes and Mrs. Daniel Potter. Hostess chairman is Mrs. Richard L. Murland. She will be assisted by Mrs. Seeley Mudd. Tickets may be obtained by telephoning 624-5401, or by writing to Box 2333, Carmel.

KINDERGARTEN ART SHOW

Two River School kindergarten pupils, Jeanie Rainer (left) and Julie Yurkovich stand beside their paintings which are on exhibit in the Young People's Art Center (Room 11) at Sunset Center. The current exhibition includes creative work by kindergarten pupils in all of the schools of the Carmel Unified School District. The show may be seen daily, except Sunday, from 3:30-5:00 p.m., or by appointment at other times. The art work of the young boys and girls expresses more freedom and natural ideas than at any later age in a child's life.

Jeanie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. "Buzz" Rainer. Her father teaches English at Carmel High School. Julie's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Yurkovich. Her father is administrative assistant to the superintendent of the school district.

HEIRLOOM GALLERIES

Oil paintings by Carmel artist Lois Koerber are being featured at the new Heirloom Galleries located in Espalier Court at Seventh and Mission streets.

The exhibit consists of an impressive selection of her most recent work. The painter, whose range of style and technique are exceptional, has shown in many leading galleries and museums.

PUBLIC HEARING TUESDAY
ON JOAN BAEZ SCHOOL

A public hearing on a request filed by Francis Heisler, attorney for folk singer Joan Baez, asking for a change in conditions under which her Institute for Non-violence is allowed to operate as a school in Carmel Valley, will be held Wednesday by the Monterey County Planning Commission in Salinas.

The requests are: (a) all staff members and their families, if any, also visitors not exceeding two in number, be allowed to reside at the institute on Carmel Valley Road; (b) permission be given for weekend sessions from 1-6 p.m.; (c) that outdoor seminars be allowed.

Miss Baez, who has been on a European concert tour, was back in the Valley last weekend.

Art News

Judging to determine the first place winners of the peace poster contest took place on May 7. Judges were Mrs. Nathaniel Owings of Big Sur and Miss Nancy Johnson of Carmel.

About 60 entries were submitted from eight Peninsula schools. Media included resist technique, spray painting, ink drawings, collage, water color, tissue pasting, colored felt pens and poster paint.

In the adult category, Roger V. Hope of Carmel won the first prize of $10. The judges awarded no prizes in grades 2, 3, 9, 10, and 12. First place cash awards of $5 each were given to Kim Baker, 1st grade; Mary Fielding, 4th grade; Jim Johns, 5th grade; Paula d'Angelo, 6th grade; Lisa Cannon, 7th grade; Darien Hopkins, 8th grade; and Kay McCombs, 11th grade.

Both the City of Salinas and the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts have recently acquired oil paintings by a Carmel artist, Richard Lofton. On permanent display in the new Salinas city hall will be "Procession," a study of a group of colorfully clad women. "Reflections" is the title of the picture acquired for the permanent collection of the AFA chapter. This painting pictorially recalls Mr. Lofton's memories of his childhood home in McClellanville, a village in South Carolina near Charleston.

A showing of the work of Monterey Peninsula College art students—day and evening—will open on May 28, to remain on view through June 2, at the American Federation of Arts Gallery.

The exhibition will include paintings, drawings, designs, sculpture and ceramics selected by all members of the MPC art department from class assignments completed throughout the 1965-66 academic year.

Joseph Hysong is chairman of the art department, assisted by instructors Robert Nelson, Richard Bibler, Chester Smith and Alex Gonzales, who is in charge of arrangements for the show.

The AFA Gallery is located on Lincoln Street near Ocean Avenue in Carmel.

On May 26, the local chapter of the American Federation of Arts will sponsor an art tour to San Francisco. Plans are to visit the "Art USA: Now" exhibition at the Palace of the Legion of Honor, also the Octagon House which is maintained by the National Society of Colonial Dames of America. On display here is a fine collection of colonial furniture, china and paintings. Time will be available also to visit the various art galleries and antique shops on Union Street. The bus will leave Carmel at 8 a.m. and arrive back at 7:30 p.m. Price for the excursion is $6.50. This sum does not include lunch.

Entry forms are now available for the 12th annual All California Art Exhibit sponsored by the Laguna Beach Art Association—in conjunction with the Laguna Beach Festival of Arts. The competition, featuring a $1,000 purchase award and four cash awards, is open to all California artists. Accepted works will be exhibited in the main galleries of the art association July 8 through August 14.

Information may be obtained by writing to Tom K. Enmann, Laguna Beach Art Association, 307 Cliff Drive, Laguna Beach.

Sunny Day In San Juan Bautista

Members of the Women's Architectural League have planned "A Sunny Day in San Juan Bautista" on Saturday. The chartered bus tour, open to the public, will benefit a scholarship fund for an architectural-engineering student at California State Polytechnic College. The bus will leave Sunset Center at 9:45 a.m.

Those participating in the day's activities will enjoy a tour of the Mission, followed by lunch at picnic tables, time to visit the other historic buildings and the shops, also wine tasting before leaving San Juan to arrive back in Carmel at 4 p.m.

Tickets may be reserved by calling Mrs. James Flynn (624-7854) or Mrs. Marcel Sedletzky, tour chairman (624-7884).

DOING?

Now, when you move, we can help you arrange for telephone service at your new location. And it doesn't matter whether you're moving within California or across the nation... our Easy Move Plan is effective throughout the Bell System. And it really is easy. When you call our local Business Office to have your phone disconnected, our Service Representative will offer to make all the necessary arrangements for telephone service at your new address. And you'll have one thing less to worry about on moving day.

Now, boys and girls who can't go to school themselves are having school brought to them—by telephone, with Tele-Class service. A teacher with special phone equipment dials her class to order every school day. With a push of a button, she can talk to all her students at once... or with each one privately. Tele-Class service combines general classroom discussion with individual attention. And best of all, it keeps homebound children from falling behind in their studies. This telephone teaching service was developed by Pacific Telephone in cooperation with the Los Angeles City School System.

Pine Needles

Above, happily holding hands, are PFC Steven Anthony Gann, Special Forces, Airborne, and his bride, the former Sydney Tainter, who were married May 5 in the Special Forces Kennedy Chapel at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. Steve wears the dress uniform of the Green Berets.

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Tainter, of Sacramento flew to Fort Bragg to witness their daughter's wedding. Although the bridegroom's mother Mrs. Eleanor Michaud Gann, was unable to be present, she sent sprays of orchids from the greenhouse of her Pebble Beach home, also an heirloom ring which had belonged to Steven's grandmother, Mrs. Edward Michaud.

The couple, who are making their home in Fayetteville, North Carolina, hope to visit the Peninsula this summer.

The Dorns Have Returned

Brigadier General Frank Dorn (USA Ret.) and Mrs. Dorn have returned from Washington, D.C., after an absence of some nine months and are in the process of getting settled in their new home in Hatton Fields.

General Dorn, painter, writer, linguist and former fighting man, is probably the least retired military man in the United States, if not the world. World War II aide to the late General Joseph W. Stilwell, General Dorn arrives here at an appropriate time—he and Mrs. Dorn will accompany Mrs. Stilwell to the Fort Ord Soldiers Club tomorrow to hear Brigadier General Joseph W. Stilwell speak to guests at the Association of the U.S. Army luncheon. General Dorn is the author of "Walkout", an account of the famous Stilwell march through 140 miles of jungle in March, 1942, considered one of the most important incidents of the war in the China-Burma-India theater. As may be remembered, the Stilwell troops were pursued, harassed and cut off at every possible turn by the Japanese. "Walkout" is the author's personal narrative of the march.

Mrs. Stilwell Has Visitors

Many are the citizens observing Armed Forces Week here and throughout the nation in appreciation of the men who are, or have been, in the nation's service. For Mrs. Joseph Stilwell of Carmel Point, it is, in addition, a chance to catch up on family news with her eldest son, Brigadier General Joseph W. Stilwell, commanding general of the Army Special Warfare Center at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, who is here with his wife, Myra.

The distinguished son of a distinguished father (the late General "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell), the chief of the Green Berets is on the Peninsula to present an address on Viet Nam to an audience of some 800 guests at a luncheon at Fort Ord today sponsored by the local chapter of the Association of the U. S. Army.

Another visitor at the family home is Mrs. Stilwell's daughter Nancy, wife of Major General Ernest F. Easterbrook. The proximity of his post, as deputy commander of the Presidio of San Francisco, provides a fine opportunity for exchange visits and a chance for Mrs. Stilwell to see some of her grandchildren.

Luncheon For French Consul

Charles Crettien, Assistant French Consul General, French Consulate, San Francisco, was the honored guest at a luncheon given yesterday by the Defense Language Institute, West Coast Branch, at La Marmite restaurant in Carmel. Representing the institute were Colonel James Long, commandant, and Mrs. Long and faculty members of the French department. These were Georges Picard, chairman; Mrs. Lucile Low, supervisor; Jacques Ilbek, course developer; Guy Ceriez, Mrs. Juliette Heinlein, Mrs. Florane Nguyen, Jean Lubomirski, Michel Joyet and Mrs. Henriette Redmon. Another guest was Mrs. Robert G. Fergusson, wife of the commanding general of Fort Ord, who was in a French class which had visited the consul in San Francisco.

M. Crettien was on the Peninsula to tour the DLI and to speak, in his native tongue, to students of the French department. A gifted linguist who has served in Lebanon and in Rabat, Morocco, the consul also visited the Arabic department at the language school.

"Portrait" Preview A Success

Hundreds of people turned out in best bib and tucker Friday evening, providing a sparkling audience to match the sparkle of the champagne served at the preview of "Portrait of Home Furnishings" held in the fine arts complex at the Monterey County Fairgrounds. Sponsored by the Central Coast Counties Council of the Children's Home Society, the gala opening was followed by a two-day exhibit of interior displays by local decorators, also an exhibit by well known local artists.

Of particular delight to those attending was a stunning interior arrangement whose colors were keyed to the brilliance of a live macaw—his volubility and antics nearly stole the whole show.

Surprise, Mexican Style

Charlotte (Mrs. Howard) Allen was completely engrossed in her current task of redecorating and refurbishing the Sundial Court apartments which the Allens purchased recently when a group of friends arrived Tuesday to surprise her with a luncheon. The party, with portable Mexican decor, was instigated by Mrs. Roy Woods, who persuaded Mrs. Elizabeth Touche and Yvonne Arras to prepare some of the delicious south-of-the-border dishes they do so well.

Others who came to lure "Char" Allen from her tasks for the alfresco lunch were Mrs. Stafford Hughes, Mrs. F. Robert (Lilli) Smith and Mrs. Ernest Zeh.

The whole thing almost got out of hand when tourists, attracted by the fragrance of the Mexican fare and the sounds of gaiety, began wandering into the courtyard asking to be served. The painters and carpenters working on the building seem to have enjoyed the scene as much as the "picnickers."

Gals Are Not Always Ballast

At least one woman is more than ballast aboard boats sailing in the Monterey Peninsula Yacht Club's races. Margaret Hays of Carmel bought Kay Clark's "Rocinante" in first in the club's non-championship race Sunday. Even if it was a turnabout competition, the lady skipper showed her skill.

About boats, by the way, rivalry for newer, bigger, or better models keeps the dealers alive. Pat Patterson and his sailing partners, Pete and Inge Stuber, have done their bit by acquiring an Excalibur 26 which has been christened "Prydwen." Their former boat, "Pipp," was a great contender in Monterey Bay competition.

The Chapmans Were Here

The George Chapmans have returned to Cleveland after a short vacation here with Ann Chapman's mother, Mrs. Paul Whitman of Pebble Beach. The couple's arrival in Carmel on their all-too-infrequent visits is always a signal for happy gatherings of family members, who include Ann's brother and sister-in-law, Colden and Betsy Whitman, also another brother, Paul.

Awarded Doctorate

H. Duncan Sprague, director of student activities at Monterey Peninsula College, will receive his doctor of education degree from the University of the Pacific in June commencement exercises in Stockton.

Wed At All Saints'

On Sunday afternoon, Claudia Costa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Costa of Monterey, and Richard Thomas Cartwright of Carmel Valley exchanged wedding vows at All Saints' Episcopal Church. For the mid-afternoon ceremony, read by the Reverend Peter Farmer, the altar of the church was adorned by masses of white chrysanthemums, carnations and roses.

The bride was escorted to the altar wearing a full length gown of chiffon over crepe de chine designed in Empire style with a sheath skirt. The bodice, edged at the waist with Alencon lace, had a rounded neckline and long pointed sleeves. The detachable train, flowing in a panel edged with lace from the back waistline, was chapel length. Her six-tier veil of English illusion was held with a cluster of organza roses and leaves of tulle, brilliants and pearls, and she carried a nosegay of white carnations and rosebuds.

Claudia's attendants were Michelle Sherwin, maid of honor, and Linda Gleixner, both of Monterey. They wore identical gowns of silk organza over taffeta, Miss Sherwin's in apple green and Miss Gleixner's in pale lavender. Matching bows with veils covered their hair, and each carried an old-fashioned nosegay. Little Barbara Wigham, also of Monterey, scattered pink rose petals as she led the bridal party down the aisle.

David Cartwright of San Francisco served as his brother's best man.

Mrs. Costa greeted guests wearing a street-length, princess style dress of pink lace over taffeta. Her hat was of pink net and her corsage of pink roses.

For her son's marriage, Mrs. J. Cartwright of Carmel Valley chose a beige knit piped in blue, with which she wore bone accessories. A corsage of bronze orchids was pinned to her shoulder.

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds received the congratulations of hosts of friends at a reception in the historic House of Four Winds in Monterey. Among the guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. I. McCombs of Bakersfield.

The new Mrs. Cartwright attended San Carlos and Junipero Memorial High School, graduating later from Monterey High School. She has three brothers, Adam, who is the youngest and served as ring bearer, Timothy and David.

Her husband attended Carmel High School and is employed with a menswear shop in Monterey.

The young couple, who look forward to a delayed honeymoon, are making their home in Pacific Grove.

Professors Emeritus

Miss Marjorie Landon and Dr. Joseph D. Blacow, retiring Monterey Peninsula College instructors who joined the faculty in 1947—MPC's founding year—were granted the honorary title of professor emeritus at the May 11 meeting of the MPC board of trustees. Miss Landon was chairman of the English department until the current academic year. She has made her home in Carmel for a number of years.

Dr. Blacow, who organized MPC's business division as the forerunner of a projected reorganization of the college's departments into divisions, has been its chairman for the past year. He and his wife, residents of Carmel Valley, plan a trip to Hawaii and "possibly another trip around the world."

Good News For The McMahan's

Marsha McMahan has been elected to The Spurs, honorary sophomore women's organization at the University of Southern California, on the basis of her scholastic record and participation in student activities. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. McMahan, have also learned that she has been chosen secretary of the Y.W.C.A. chapter at the university for the coming year.

The McMahan's share their other good news with Mr. and Mrs. Roderrick Wilson of Carmel, whose daughter Niki is the wife of their son, Lieutenant J.G. Michael "Mick" McMahan (USNR). Mick's ship, which has been operating off the coast of Viet Nam, was due in Honolulu yesterday and he is expected back on the mainland shortly. Niki will be waiting for him in Long Beach, where she has been teaching in an elementary school during his absence.

San Francisco Is Their Home

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Robert Newmarch are now at home in San Francisco following their marriage on May 8 at Highlands Inn Wedding Chapel. The couple exchanged wedding vows in an afternoon ceremony performed by Kenneth A. Garner, Chaplain, U.S.A.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dowdy of Seattle, was given in marriage by a close friend, Hilmi Voskay of Carmel, who also was host at a dinner party for the bridal party at Del Monte Lodge.

Elizabeth, whose matron of honor was Mrs. Voskay, wore an off-white, three-piece Ottoman suit, to which she pinned a corsage of green orchids. A beige veil-and-ribbon hat, with matching beige accessories, completed her costume.

Fragrant white flowers adorned the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Aebersold, hosts for the reception of close friends and members of the family who attended the wedding.

Four Celebrated Birthdays

What fun to celebrate the birthdays of four 16-year-olds at once (this 16th is really so much more important than that 21st)! Dan Robinson did, Friday evening, with a party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Geisen, who invited a group of Dan's Robert Louis Stevenson School classmates and a number of pretty girls to share in the excitement of opening "for real" or "kooky" presents from everyone assembled.

The birthday celebrants were Bruce Decker, Suzie Vial, Mons Cedercrutz and Penny Smith. They cut a tremendous cake, decorated especially by Mrs. Geisen with miniature symbols depicting the hobbies of each of them.

Liz And Steven Stupak Endeavor, As Peace Corps Volunteers, To Develop Youth Groups In Uruguay

Elizabeth Stupak and her husband, Steven, are Peace Corps volunteers stationed near the northwest boundary of Uruguay. Last week the Pine Cone carried part of the story of their experiences. Liz wrote the account in a letter to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. van Loben Sels. More of their life in South America follows.

We're down here to work with Uruguay's equivalent of 4-H clubs as free labor for the national organization in Montevideo. The clubs up here in the north are almost deserted and in various stages of disarray. They depend for any sort of order on leaders who know nothing of what's expected of them and who function almost entirely by instinct. To make things worse, there are practically no technical resources.

Everyone with any education—which one has to go to Montevideo to get—stays in Montevideo. The mail system is such a mess that it takes a month for a letter to get to its destination, another month for it to get to the proper department, and a third month to receive a reply.

So, with no agricultural extension service, there is no guidance for club organization, either individual clubs or departmental (county) functions. Also, with no local resources, a leader is hard put to come up with any kind of educational program. Thus the clubs exist so the members can get credit for their agricultural projects, also to provide about the only social contacts the kids get apart from their families.

We're supposed to act as agricultural extension advisors to these clubs, but, as we are the sole functioning source of information, really serve as agricultural extension agents for the whole community.

If that sounds far-fetched for the little training we have, bear in mind that these people's problems are very, very basic and largely mental. They just never bothered to change and for the most part claim they can't, though they don't know why they can't.

Projects are our first major concern. The opinion is that only something you get credit for is a project. That eliminates all home economics projects though sewing machines, jars, etc. are obtainable for this program. This attitude is largely the fault of central organization that knows nothing, and so requires nothing, in regard to project requirements or project records. As a result, the calf rejected by its mother becomes a pet rather than a project. Improvements made by the addition of fertilizer go uncalculated.

The girl last here with the Peace Corps taught home economics, but to the kids they were only classes and as soon as she left they ceased to work.

Our problem is to set up project requirements that give structure to an essentially club function since club members insist on looking to project leaders as having to be teachers—professional ones, that is, instead of mothers as we had in 4-H. The position of women in this society leaves everyone completely unprepared for that sort of thing.

Clubs are supposed to be divided into juniors and seniors, a distinction that is not made in any of our clubs. We're trying to restructure the junior department giving it a purely cooperative nature and basing it on crafts. This program has two long range goals — and probably hopeless ones — for this is a country of farmers without co-ops, also entirely devoid of crafts despite a huge leather by-product from the staple resource, beef.

Our plan is to have the clubs buy their basic goods and sell their finished products at some profit both to the club and to the individual member.

Plans are to have the boys work at carpentry and leather crafts and the girls at embroidery, sewing and knitting. We will utilize the senior members to teach the juniors in hopes that this will do away with some of their fear of leadership, also provide a pattern for following club years.

Our greatest immediate problem is the club next door where so far we can't work at all. And here's where the Peace Corps comes in.

(Last week Liz told about the leader of this club who is a Communist and told Liz and Steven, in front of the club members, that he did not want them at meetings of the club but would permit them to attend. When they do, he spends the whole time berating the United States.)

When assigned duties are impossible, we are free to work in the community. Accordingly, we show movies and give classes for any persons interested in attempts to change living and farming patterns.

We do a lot of home visiting and work on farms. This, with actual teaching, gives a marvellous outlet for a felt need for tangible accomplishment that can't be seen in our other endeavors and is, simply, the price of working with big plans and little people. The two meet somewhere in the invisible in-between.

In the city, we work with a boys' club made up of youngsters in poverty suburbs. This is equally rewarding. We help, technically, some wealthy people who put up money and some local people who do the work. They feed the kids every Saturday, for which we've secured donations from Food for Peace. We've also organized a football club and are getting donations to put up a building so the kids can be taught crafts, if not trades. We get lots of publicity for this, which does wonders for us: plenty for the Peace Corps and the American image.

Charles Dean

Private family services for Charles Lake Dean, 84, who died in a local hospital May 11 after a brief illness, were held May 12 at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove. Inurnment followed in El Carmelo Cemetery Columbarium.

Mr. Dean was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on March 24, 1882.

A graduate mining engineer of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, he spent a year in Mexico before joining Sterns, Roger Company in Denver, Colorado. He became vice president of this firm of contracting and designing engineers, eventually selling his interest in the company and retiring in 1929.

Mr. Dean made his home in Los Angeles until 1938, when he and his wife, Julie, came to Carmel and built the residence they occupied until two years ago, at which time they moved to Hacienda Carmel in Carmel Valley.

In addition to his wife, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Victor (Beth) Carell of Sydney, Australia, and Mrs. G. C. (Georgette) Kehmeier of Denver, Colorado; a sister, Mrs. A. D. Kendall of Portland, Oregon; and two grandchildren.

Party Plans

By Phyllis Jervey

"Valley Fare," a collection of favorite recipes of the members of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild, is now in its second edition. It all began in 1956 when Mrs. Robert Getz suggested printing the recipes for the delicious salads served at the guild's annual Spring Salad Luncheon. Mrs. Thomas McKiernon expanded the idea to include recipes of all guild members who cared to contribute.

Famous Valley artists and cartoonists contributed special drawings. A Valley author, Mrs. Beulah Powers, wrote the many helpful hints used as footnotes.

By 1964, the first edition had been exhausted for some time, and the many newcomers to Carmel Valley were asking where a copy might be purchased. Mrs. McKiernon, now president of the guild, appointed Mrs. Elbert Wade to contact new guild members and solicit their favorite recipes, in order to bring out a larger edition of the book. This resulted in the addition of 85 new recipes to the original 150 recipes.

The foregoing introduction to this week's PARTY PLANS was written by Mrs. Elbert Wade who has the welfare of "Valley Fare" very much at heart. It is a simple matter to decide to have a cook-book published. But it is another matter to finance it, to name it, to devise a suitable theme and a make-up to carry it, to illustrate it and to collect its recipes (which must then be sorted, checked, revised, tested and catalogued), to print it, to proofread it, to index it, to cover and publicize it! And for this accomplishment Party Plans congratulates the ladies of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild who have made "Valley Fare" possible.

Following is a menu composed of recipes from this charming little book. You could serve these selections for an old-fashioned "covered-dish church social"; a graduation buffet supper; or even a party now that June is around the corner.

CHEESE AND OLIVE TIDBITS

One cup shredded Cheddar cheese; ½ cup flour; 2 tbsps. butter; dash of cayenne; stuffed green olives.

Mix and make small balls, enclosing a stuffed green olive in center of each. Bake at 400 F. for about 10 minutes, watching carefully to prevent overbaking.

(Mrs. Joseph Blacow)

DELICIOUS PUNCH

(Serves 8)

One 6 oz. can frozen lemonade concentrate; one 12 oz. can apricot nectar; one 12 oz. can unsweetened pineapple juice; 1½ cups water.

Combine ingredients and chill. Pour over ice cubes to serve. Garnish with fresh mint. Double, triple, or whatever, for as large a group as you expect.

CHICKEN CASSEROLE

(Serves 12)

Two cups boned chicken; 2 cans cream of chicken soup; 2 cups finely cut celery; 2 tbsps. minced onion; 1 cup slivered almonds; 1½ cups cooked brown rice; 1 cup mayonnaise; 1 tsp. salt; 2 tbsps. lemon juice; 6 hard cooked eggs, sliced; 3 cups crushed potato chips.

Cook celery and onion in small amount of water for a few minutes. Mix other ingredients with them and put in casserole. Bake 30 minutes. Prepare several casseroles for large crowd.

(Mrs. Henry Holme)

HOMINY GRITS

(Serves 6)

Three-fourths cup hominy grits; 1½ cups boiling water; 1 cup milk; 1 tsp. salt; 2 beaten eggs; 1 cup milk; ¼ cup butter; grated cheese.

Boil the grits in water for 2 minutes; add milk and salt. Put in double boiler and cook one hour. Add eggs, milk and butter. Place in buttered casserole, sprinkle with grated cheese and bake 1 hour more at 350 F. Make as much as you will need.

(Mrs. Elbert Wade)

GRAPEFRUIT AND CELERY SOUFFLE SALAD

(Serves 6)

One pkg. lime Jello; 1 cup hot water; ½ cup cold water; 1 tbsp. vinegar; ¼ tsp. salt; dash of pepper; ½ cup mayonnaise; ¼ cup diced canned grapefruit, drained; 1 tbsp. onion, chopped fine; ¼ cup diced celery; lettuce cups; mayonnaise.

Dissolve Jello in hot water. Add cold water, vinegar, mayonnaise, salt and pepper. Blend well with rotary beater. Pour into refrigerator freezing tray and quick chill for about 20 minutes—or until firm about an inch from edge, but soft in middle. Turn mixture into bowl and whip until fluffy. Fold in grapefruit, celery and onion. Pour into quart mold and refrigerate 40 minutes. Unmold and spoon into lettuce cups. Serve mayonnaise on the side.

(Mrs. A. N. Soderstrom)

ORANGE RING CAKE

Two and a half cups sifted cake flour; 1½ cups sugar; 2 tps. double action baking powder; ¼ tsp. baking soda; 1 tsp. salt; 1 cup shortening; 1 tsp. grated orange rind; 1 cup liquid (½ orange juice, ½ water); 2 eggs.

Sift dry ingredients into mixing bowl. Add shortening and rind, and 2/3 cup liquid. Beat 2 minutes with electric mixer, medium speed. Add remaining liquid and eggs. Beat 2 minutes, medium speed. Bake in two 8 inch layer pans at 350 F. for 30 minutes. Frost with white icing and arrange fresh orange sections on top and around outside edge.

White Icing: 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar; 4 tbsps. cream; ½ tsp. vanilla. Beat with electric mixer until smooth and a creamy consistency. Spread on and between layers.

(Mrs. T. B. McKiernon)

CAMERA CLUB MEETS TONIGHT

The Padre Trails Camera Club will meet tonight at 8:00 o'clock in Carmel High School for the regular monthly competition. Both color slides and monochrome prints will be entered, and the subject matter will be nature. The judge will be Mrs. Helen Manzor, the photographer who conducts classes at Asilomar during the summer.

VALLEY FARE

A most delicious concoction of tried and true mouth-watering recipes from the kitchens of Carmel Valley—spiked with humorous drawings of Valley artists. This unique cook-book is tops for a bridge prize or kitchen shower. You'll find it at the Collectors' Kitchen, Dolores near 6th, at Wells Book Store in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center or at the Thunderbird in Pebble Beach.

Opera Concert This Weekend

Members of the Monterey Peninsula Opera Workshop, under the direction of its founder Nancy Ness Bowman, will present two performances of Pietro Mascagni's classic musical drama, "Cavalleria Rusticana," in concert at White Oaks Theatre in Carmel Valley on Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

Lead singers appearing in the Saturday production are Nancy Hurdle as Santuzza, Jeanne Garrell as Lola, Joe Messineo as Turiddu, Jerry Winters as Alfio, and Susan Scott as Lucia. Sunday afternoon's performances will feature women from the White Oaks resident company including Tracy Carr (Santuzza), Mary Pattie (Lola), and Karin Gjording (Lucia). Messineo and Winters will repeat their roles for that show.

Orchestral accompaniment for the presentations will be provided by musicians Camille Olaeta (piano), Fred Schaad (organ), H. M. M. Nicholas (violin), and Louise Vadetsky (cello).

Composing the chorus for the two productions are Lucy Bowman, Allen Beck, Linda Boblitt, Margaret Clark, Tonia Brandt, Jeanne Garrell, Karin Gjording, George Hoffman, Nancy Hurdle, Gale Peterson, Mary Pattie, J. Gonzalez, Joe Messineo, Tracy Carr, Nina Russo, George Sackman, Susan Scott, Jerry Winters, Barbara Winters, and Midge Messineo.

The opera takes place in the public square of a village in Sicily on Easter Day during the 1890's where romantic involvements lead to frustration, despair and eventual tragedy.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press, Dial Carmel 624-3881.

MPC Board Raises Pay Of Personnel

All certificated and classified personnel at Monterey Peninsula College will receive a 5 per cent raise in salary July 1.

The action was taken, on the recommendation of MPC President George J. Faul, at the May meeting of the college board of trustees. Dr. Faul explained that, though the raise was "not as high" as he would like to have recommended, he felt that "it is important to keep our salaries appropriately competitive with other colleges, in order to keep instructors, and to attract them."

The governing board also approved the establishment of a $5 registration fee for all students 21 years of age or over, effective for the Fall semester, 1966. This fee will be paid at the time of registration and will be non-refundable. The decision was an outcome of a recent study session by the board on next year's budget.

sioner; Marilyn Lane, commissioner of health and safety; Dave Erickson, commissioner of streets and public works; Tim Hall, fire commissioner. Acting as the city's appointive officials were Diane Swift, director of planning; Rick Shelton, building inspector; Robert Goulding, superintendent of public works; Doug Adams, police chief; and Kim Roberts, fire chief.

Items on the students' council agenda were consideration of desirability of retaining the horse drawn carriage operation in Carmel; discussion of the loitering problem in Devendorf Plaza; adequacy of the facilities of Harrison Memorial Library; use of Sunset Center site for a civic center containing all municipal departments; annexation of the Carmel High School site to the City of Carmel; charging a yearly fee for all cars to park in Carmel.

The students who acted as city officials signed up for the privilege at the high school and were elected to their various positions by votes of the student council.

'Sing-Out' In Carmel On Saturday

BY BRUCE PERRY

"Sing-Out Monterey" will have its premiere performance at Sunset Center auditorium on Saturday at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the Sunset box office from noon until 6 p.m. today, tomorrow and Saturday. ($2 for adults; $1 for students).

The week after a spectacular dress rehearsal at Pacific Grove Junior High for parents and guests, the cast, joined by students from Chico, Cal Poly, and Los Angeles, was billed as "Sing-Out '66" at Disneyland.

Back from Los Angeles, where an estimated 30,000 people heard them, "Sing-Out Monterey" has prepared a full hour and one-half program with its own "torrent of talent" and swinging songs. "Enthusiasm," a song written around a word which combines spirit and accomplishment, portrays the feeling behind the show.

Following a grand tour of Monterey County, "Sing-Out Monterey" will join other western "Sing-Outs" at Estes Park, Colorado, where thousands of foreign and American students will converge from June 4 to July 2, to participate in "Action-Now"—the beginning of the globe-spanning program on Moral Re-Armament to be launched this summer.

Forty-five Carmel students from Monterey Peninsula College, Carmel High School, Carmel Middle School, Santa Catalina, and Robert Louis Stevenson School are members of the Peninsula cast.

He retired a few years ago after 50 years' service as a wholesale hardware salesman for Sloss and Brittan Company.

Surviving are a son, Robert Walter Berry of Los Altos; two sisters, Mrs. George F. Ahrens and Mrs. Clarence J. Dunleavy, both of San Francisco; and five grandchildren. His wife, Lucille, died June 11, 1965.

Burial took place in St. Mary's Catholic Cemetery, Sacramento. The Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel was in charge of local arrangements.

Stock Market Notes

By Hugh Hannon

Now that stocks are down a good question is, "Which ones will bounce back the best?" A recent survey by DMS, Inc., an aerospace market research firm, makes one think that the airline and aircraft stocks might be among the best. It shows that nearly twice as many planes will be built from 1966 through 1975 as were made during the previous decade. Not only that but the dollar value is expected to triple. The fastest rising stocks are usually the ones that are anticipating the most good news about increasing business earnings. The president of the firm stated, "The world's aviation industry is entering a good period of growth and prosperity that will rival that of any other segment of our economy." That certainly sounds like good earnings news!

Two main points are made in this survey: First, even the most conservative projections indicate airline passenger traffic will double by 1972 and triple by 1976. Conservative projections often fall far short of what actually happens, so the earnings of these airline stocks could be terrific. Second, military replacement needs will assure production of military aircraft at or about present levels. The survey also expects a significant shift to helicopters instead of fixed wing aircraft.

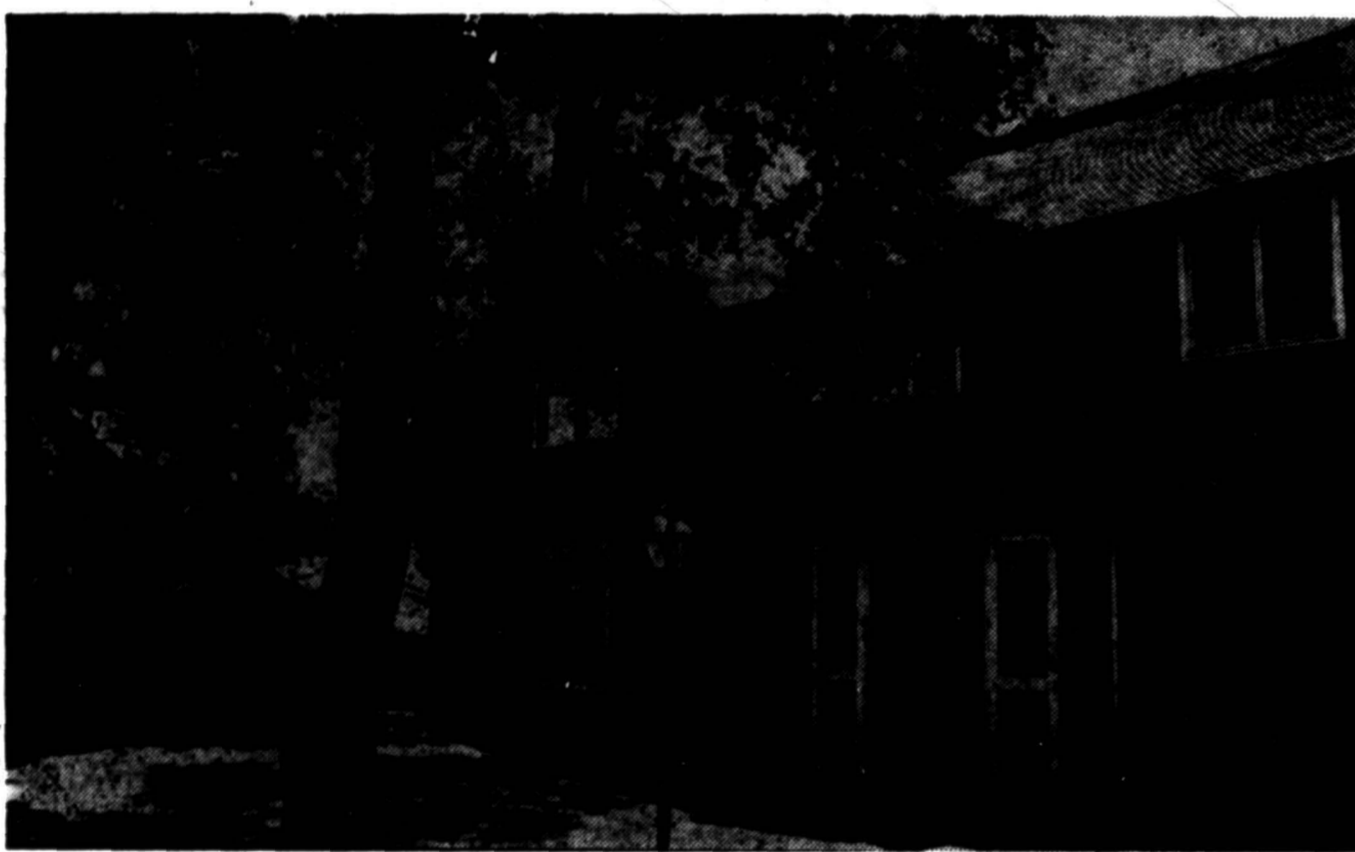

This survey explains some of earnings per share projections I've heard recently: Boeing now selling at 130 could earn $30.00 per share and go up to over 300; General Dynamics now 51 could earn over $9.00 per share and sell at over 90; Lockheed now 58 could earn close to $10.00 per share and sell close to 100. In other words investments made at current prices could double in ten years or go up ten per cent per year plus dividends.

This survey also explains why the airline stocks have recently been selling at 20 times earnings instead of a conservative ten times. This current drop in the market is bringing the airline stocks, whose business is very sensitive to recessions, down near to ten times earnings. A revival of the upswing should take these airline stocks right back to twenty times earnings. TWA for instance hopes to make $7.00 per share this year. The stock could go up from its present level of 80 to 140 when the market turns up again.

State Supreme Court Flaunts Will Of People, CREA Charges

Burt Smith, president of the California Real Estate Association, last week charged the California Supreme Court with "a deliberate flaunting of the people's will" in declaring Proposition 14 unconstitutional.

At a Los Angeles news conference, he said: "The people of California have just lost an important freedom, the right to deal with the person of their choice concerning their own property. It has been taken from them by the California Supreme Court, which has resorted to astonishing twists of logic to justify their action."

"The people clearly set forth in that vote," he commented, "that they repealed the Rumford Act, that they did not approve of such thought control legislation. The Supreme Court could have recognized that fact apart from their decision on constitutionality. They refused to do so."

"This is a deliberate flaunting of the people's will and I hope they won't take this decision by an appointive body without a fight. After all, in this country, the people are the government."

The CREA president said that the decision is no loss to realtors and other real estate agents, for Proposition 14 did not alter their regulation by law.

"It is the people's loss," he said. "Our association fought to give the people a chance to vote on this issue. When they approved it by a 2-to-1 majority, we defended their decision in the courts.

"Our Supreme Court has said, in effect," Smith declared, "that the people cannot be trusted to exert free choice, and that the Constitution of the United States imposes a forced choice on every citizen."

"Justice White had a significant statement on this point in his dissenting opinion when he wrote: 'I do not justify discriminatory private conduct nor approve the state's failure to forbid it, but I submit it is not the province of this court by judicial fiat to enact legislation, a function reserved to the people or the legislature.'"

"We concur with Justice McComb, also," Smith stated, "when he said in his dissent opinion: 'By its decision, our court has effectively nullified the will of the people, from whom it derives its power.'"

"We also agree with Justice McComb in that same opinion when he said: 'Unless we are to become a socialistic state in which the people have only limited, if any, rights to privately own, possess, enjoy and/or dispose of property, real or personal, the proposed decision is obnoxious to our basic form of government."

Smith said that the court held Proposition 14 unconstitutional in direct violation of the people's will. "The people voted to safeguard their freedom of choice," he said, "when they overwhelmingly approved the proposition in the November, 1964, general election."

"This counter-decision by the Supreme Court is a very undemocratic decision and is the people's loss, a grievous loss."

"As Justice White points out, the court has cast serious doubt on whether either the people or the legislature can even repeal the Rumford Act. In other words, once a bill is passed in this field, it can never be repealed," Smith declared.

"This seems directly contrary to our constitutional right," he went on, "quoted by Justice McComb, that the people reserve to themselves the right to adopt or reject any act of the legislature."

Smith said: "We have not yet begun to fight this battle for 4½ million Californians. As president of the California Real Estate Association, I shall exert every effort to obtain the necessary support for securing a reversal of this unfair decision."

"We have had many calls from people urging us to take further action. I have no doubt that this support will be forthcoming and our attorneys will file a petition for a rehearing before the State Supreme Court as our first legal move, and, if necessary, a petition to the U. S. Supreme Court for review."

"A program as magnanimous as this," Smith concluded, "requires much in the way of volunteer and financial help. Those who feel our

Admiral Fisher Urges Everyone To Fight Hatton Canyon Freeway

BY REAR ADMIRAL C. W. FISHER (USN RET.)

The Highway No. 1 Freeway now being constructed should terminate at the top of Carmel Hill. It must not go any further south.

There must be no additional freeways, expressways or other high speed roads on the Monterey Peninsula.

These are the things most of us ordinary people want and we think we are entitled to them.

But can it be done? Why not? The miles and miles of the Big Sur road down to the San Luis Obispo county line were removed from the freeway system not so long ago. What is so hard about doing the same for this little stretch of the same road from Carmel Hill to the Carmel River? All it takes is a simple legislative act to change Section 263 of the Highway Code which now says the freeway shall run from "(c) Carmel to the south boundary of San Francisco" to read "(c) from the crest of Carmel Hill to the south boundary of San Francisco."

Five little words. Simple, isn't it? Senator Farr and Assemblyman Pattee, with the assistance of Mr. Z'berg and others, should have no trouble getting such a bill passed. Especially when they realize how strong and widespread the feeling is against any more freeways on the Peninsula.

The Carmel Citizens Committee has been working at this for several years. At the Carmel Suburban Council's recent meeting a resolution was passed along these lines. County Supervisor Tom Hudson strongly opposes any more freeways here as do the many, many signers of petitions over past years.

The continuation of the freeway from Carmel Hill to the River is simply not wanted and is wholly unnecessary. It is like making a freeway out of the 17 Mile Drive!

Such legislation will prevent any freeway desecrating Hatton Canyon or a freeway ruining property abutting on Highway No. 1 south of Carmel Hill. It will prevent the Carmel Valley road from becoming a freeway. It will assist the Peninsula to maintain its scenic, residential, leisurely character (except for the Laguna Seca races). The Monterey Peninsula, one of the beauty spots of the world, is and ought to be a destination and not a dot on a high speed travel map.

I believe freeways increase traffic density. Let us take care of increasing traffic by new roads, such as connectors through available canyons between the Carmel Valley road and the Salinas highway. These are much cheaper than freeways.

Think of the saving by having no freeway in Hatton Canyon! To be sure, lots of money has been spent by the state highway engineers, principally for engineering, drafting and purchase of rights of way. On the other hand we save the cost of freeway construction (very expensive); we save the cost of an enormous interchange at the top of Carmel Hill (in size comparable with the "Can of Worms") and the cost of an expensive interchange at the mouth of the Valley. Obviously great savings accrue by omitting a freeway in Hatton Canyon.

As for the land bought for the right of way, more savings appear if the owners repurchase it. If not, what could be nicer than having the state highway engineers dedicate it as a park of perpetual greenbelt?

The state highway commission or the state highway engineers could, I believe, legally terminate the freeway at Carmel Hill and omit a freeway in Hatton Canyon if they wished, because:—The present law says from "Carmel to the south boundary of San Francisco".

Now the northern point of Carmel is near the Carpenter Street intersection at the top of Carmel Hill; therefore that is where the freeway to San Francisco should start, not at the river.

Furthermore, Hatton Canyon is no part of Carmel, or of any logical route from Carmel to San Francisco; hence there appears no legal justification for a Hatton Canyon Freeway. The same reasoning applies to the road south of the hill; where neither the Carmel Valley intersection nor the river are any part of Carmel. In the hands of a good lawyer these considerations might well take precedence over the Monterey County freeway agreement.

Mr. Datel the state district engineer, however, has emphatically stated they are going ahead with the Hatton Canyon Freeway; hence the necessity for legislative action. And we, the people must initiate it.

A Hatton Canyon Freeway would be a crime. The Highway No. 1 Freeway should stop at Carmel Hill. No additional freeways, expressways or high speed highways should ever be allowed on the Monterey Peninsula.

I call on the press, the people, citizens organizations, service clubs, city governments, the Monterey County Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors to do all things necessary to protect such wholly unjustified and wicked desecration of this bit of God given beauty.

MPVS Gives $4,064 To Adoption Agency

The Monterey County Children's Home Society received two checks at the monthly meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Service. One in the amount of $2,561.19 represented the profits from the MPVS Thrift Shop for the month of April. During that month members of the Children's Home Society stocked the shop and assisted in the selling of the merchandise. The other check for $1,503.75 resulted from the auctioning of some old Chinese articles that were donated by an undisclosed benefactor of the Children's Home Society.

Other donations voted upon at the meeting were $350 to the USO for the purchase of a new public address system; $300 to the student loan fund of the Citizens' International Students' Committee of MPC; $250 to the Carmel Valley Community Center toward the completion of the new pool house; and $20 to Military Appreciation Week.

It was announced that the profits for the month of June at the Marin County ranked first in average income per return with $10,290. Next was San Mateo County with $9,982 followed by Contra Costa County, $9,287, and Orange County, $8,994. Monterey County had an average adjusted gross income per return of $8,145 and ranked 12th among the counties. The state average income per return was $7,100.

Keep your elected representatives informed of your opinions. In only this way will they be able to represent you as they want to. One irate voter called Washington, D. C., during the last presidential election, "I don't know that this call will do me any good, but at least I'll have gotten this off my chest," she said to the secretary who answered.

"Oh, but it does do you a great deal of good," the secretary said, "We value each call, telegram, postcard and letter as representing the opinion of 217 voters, for we feel for each one we hear from there are 216 who feel the same but are silent."

And then there's the old adage: "The wheel that squeaks the loudest gets the most grease."

There are a few hints that are helpful for getting your opinion over to your representative: be brief, be factual, and be sure this is an opinion you feel is of prime importance . . . in other words, don't become a pest.

Ronald Reagan, Republican candidate for Governor of California, is seen above at Monterey Airport just before leaving from the Peninsula after speaking in Salinas.

Ronald Reagan
Wants To Trim
State Budget

BY MRS. HOWARD HUNTER
Ronald Reagan, Republican candidate for Governor of California, spoke at the Hyatt House in Salinas to an enthusiastic crowd of 450 persons on May 12.

A major portion of Mr. Reagan's talk detailed the need of a reappraisal of the fiscal policies of the state. He proposes to trim $245,000,000 from the budget recently presented by the present office holder. He hastened to add that such a cut, while it sounded drastic, only trimmed the unnecessary fat of administrative overhead and would not cut any needed or good services. The welfare budget, for instance, had been increased 12%. Mr. Reagan proposes a 5% increase which still provides $200,000,000, a figure more than adequate to provide for the state's needs, even with the 3% population increase.

"Our property taxes are the highest in the nation and increasing at a rate two times faster than any other state. It is time for a total re-evaluation of the tax picture. We can't eliminate the property tax, but I say when a tax begins to destroy its source it's time to do something," Mr. Reagan stated.

"The tax study I propose would lead to taxing money where it comes in—incomes and retail sales. We must protect people in their later years who live on fixed incomes. We cannot continue the present trend which is taxing them off their property," he continued.

About the University of California Mr. Reagan said, "The Governor must speak out on the situation at Berkeley. He must serve notice that good conduct must be demanded, and that such a demand is not a violation of free speech. Such an excuse is no excuse."

Ronald Reagan ended his talk by asking all Republicans to join with him in a crusade for moral standards, that we may preserve, for ourselves and our children, our country which was founded, "by realists who risked lives, fortunes, and homes to shape their own future based on the utmost in integrity, principle and honor."

Carmel Pine Cone

I want to call your attention to the stand by the majority members of the city council, before it gets too late to do anything about it.

The council majority—Blanks, Whittlesey, and Grant—are trying to push through a second civic center only two years after the voters decided, by an overwhelming vote, to buy the first civic center, the one at Sunset. There's been a lot of hair-splitting about what the people bought at Sunset, but the ballot proposition they voted on was plain enough. It asked them to vote yes for a municipal-community-cultural center—and I don't know what that is, if it isn't a civic center of Carmel's own special kind.

The more I think about it, the more I think that all the city offices and departments ought to be put on that Sunset civic center property—all but the fire department which is already fixed up where it is, and the street department which ought to be put on that Junipero and 4th property which was bought just for that purpose—corporation yard.

Meanwhile the idea of selling any city property is absurd, especially property situated as the police station corner is, and as the present city hall property is, when centrally located off-street parking is a crying need. Now is the worst possible time to think of selling off this city property, just when the so-called "in-lieu" parking law is going to make bigger demands on the city than ever, for off-street parking.

Besides I don't believe the city has any so-called "uncommitted" $300,000 to put into anything right now anyway. The whole idea simply seems to be to start down the borrowing road, with a likely first bank loan of $170,000 by October 1st, and to put with it, money from the sale of city property, which the city shouldn't even think of selling.

The idea of thinking of using motel tax to be collected from now until 1971, to finance what's called "Phase I" of that wholly unnecessary second civic center up on the corporation yard property, is simply unreasonable. It's counting chickens before they've even been hatched. And it's fiscal nonsense, because the state legislature might take most of this tax away from the cities, and use it for state-wide purposes, or recession might set in. And then where would we be? The already battered local property owners, would have to pay a lot more property tax to make up the difference. Just because today's city council majority isn't using plain common sense.

By removing the city hall offices and the police department facilities to the Sunset civic center, and by using the lots on which the city hall and the police station now are located for badly needed close-in parking, the city council would be making a good start in carrying out its responsibilities to the citizens, and also getting ready to meet its own commitments to furnish the new "in-lieu" parking when it is required.

Carmel Pine Cone

We do indeed wish the Carmel Pine Cone to survive! As one of California's smallest businesswomen I know what you're up against. (I am required to purchase the same license as Sloane's, S. F., etc.—a manufacturer's license yet!)

We—all seven conservative members of the McFarlane family—are delighted to see Gunnar Norberg's columns and your reporting on sound budgets.

Since my husband ranches, we are delighted to see your column on Council of California Growers. And in the event that you do not get Jack Pickett's messages in "California Farmer," I should be most happy to subscribe for you for the year.

Since I cannot think, at this moment of any other way to support you financially, I am enclosing check for subscription extension. We shall also suggest to store owners where we shop heavily that we read the Pine Cone and look for their advertisements.

Good luck!—we do indeed need the Pine Cone and support you in your factual reporting.

Very truly yours,

International Services Director Of American Red Cross Describes Work With 'Curtain' Countries

BY MARJORIE HALLER

The decision of Sam Krakow, director of International Services of the American Red Cross, to visit the Monterey Peninsula instead of Los Angeles on his way home from the 1966 national convention in San Diego, resulted in a hurried gathering of some 50 people to hear him talk on his Red Cross job last Friday.

Mr. Krakow stressed that the most important factor in completing negotiations with unfriendly countries is patience. To patience this busy and much-travelled man adds personal charm and wit.

In describing his work, Mr. Krakow gave what he termed an "overview" of what the Red Cross is doing and trying to do about negotiations with the countries behind both curtains — iron and bamboo — diplomatically steering clear of any political involvement.

"This necessitates taking chances," he said, as he described with some humor the monthly dialogue with Communist China. At exactly 11 o'clock on the 30th of each month (the 28th, in February), the American Red Cross representative is allowed over the border to leave packages designated for Americans who are being held prisoner. After the prescribed formal request for permission to cross the border, he receives the permission in the same stilted language.

"There is no doubt whatever," said Mr. Krakow, "that every package is received intact, as they all are acknowledged, listing the contents".

Mr. Krakow has been personally responsible for arranging the visits of family members to prisoners of war in China and is presently working on plans for the wife of Captain Smith, a Navy flier well known on the Monterey Peninsula, who is the latest American to be taken prisoner in combat.

In the ticklish political situation between Pakistan and India, the Red Cross has been able to act as an intermediary in the exchange of military prisoners.

Mr. Krakow made clear again the reasons why well-meaning "drives" for various items said to be needed in the present Viet Nam situation, are misguided and wasted efforts. The problems of collecting, storing, and transporting make such drives a futile waste and frustrating to the participants. There are no serious present needs, he stated, which cannot be handled through regular Red Cross channels.

The Red Cross, with 106 member countries participating, can carry on negotiations between themselves within the framework of the Geneva Convention directly and promptly. "This is the continuing role of the Red Cross," according to Sam Krakow.

Pony Club Show At Pebble Beach Sunday

Attractions of this area often overlooked are the horse shows sponsored by the local chapter of the United States Pony Club, which will hold an English Horse Show at Pebble Beach Stables Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. "Pony," in this country, is really a misnomer; in England, children usually ride ponies rather than horses and, since all pony clubs are affiliated with the British parent club, the name is retained for the sake of unity.

In addition to Pebble Beach, three non-local clubs will participate in the competition which will include riding groups from Santa Catalina School, Rancho Point Lobos, Corral de Tierra and Robert Louis Stevenson School.

Humble Oil Halts Plans For Refinery

petition for a writ of mandate. However, he added, such action would require $2,000 which the anti-pollution group lacks.

Meanwhile, on Wednesday in Cleveland, Ohio, Supervisor Thomson J. Hudson, who voted against the refinery permit, and Charles Kramer of Pebble Beach, a leader in the county-wide fight to prevent a refinery at Moss Landing, protested the development before a Standard Oil Of New Jersey stockholders meeting. They represented the holders of 44,000 shares of stock in SONJ, of which Humble Oil is a subsidiary.

Both Mr. Hudson and Mr. Kramer noted that the Moss Landing refinery permit still is in effect until Humble relinquishes it.

Petitions, signed by 15,000 residents of Monterey County, requested a referendum on the use permit for a refinery granted by the board of supervisors. The petition for the referendum was never accepted by the supervisors. This led to legal blocking action by the anti-refinery forces represented first by Citizens for Clean Air, later by the Monterey County Anti-Pollution Association. The Sierra Club also fought the refinery.

No Proscenium Arch Means No Sunset Center

we have in the past, an engineering problem and not practical." Commissioner Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher was absent.

Commissioner James Pruitt, presiding as chairman pro-tem, called upon Sunset Center Custodian James Dixon to describe the work he and his assistant perform and the need for additional help. After considerable debate, the commission decided to suggest the hiring of another full time employee in view of the fact that the custodians, at present, cannot do all the interior maintenance and find time to care for the landscaping. By cutting the provision for overtime and eliminating the allowance for casual labor, the amount for salaries would actually be reduced from the current $16,581 to $16,201.

A recommendation for the Sunset Commission budget was the sum of $4,000 as an allowance for study of development possibilities of the center. Such a study, if approved, would request advice on four alternatives outlined previously by Commissioner Jean van Lobben Sels. The figure was chosen after Mrs. van Lobben Sels reported that Stanford Research Institute does not care to make the study but recommended a Palo Alto firm which estimated a like amount.

Any hopes of the commission for additional funds from hostelry tax receipts were dashed by Carmel City Finance Officer Arthur Plaxton, who stated, "The motel tax is committed—there will be no surplus." The matter arose as a result of Admiral Fisher's recent proposal that the municipal code be changed to permit the use of part of the hostelry tax funds for Sunset Center operation and maintenance, also approved center capital outlay items.

In regular business, members moved, at the suggestion of Commissioner Ted Fehring, to suggest that a city council representative discuss with the Carmel Unified School District the allocation of community service tax funds from the school district.

Before adjourning at midnight, Chairman Peter Dyer reported that he had been approached with an offer for the display by Carmel of the late Allen Knight's maritime collection. Commissioners who know the collection agreed that it is one of the best in existence and that it might be highly desirable to house it here. Mr. Dyer consented to explore the offer further.

family per acre uses were designated. This would allow apartment development. Other areas near Carmel were designated for one family per acre development or greenbelts (golf courses).

In the area of old sand mining operations near Pacific Grove, a variety of recreational and visitor accommodation uses were designated such as hotel, restaurant, convention facilities and a festival theatre. An area in Del Monte holdings in the Aguajito region was designated as the site of a university.

The Del Monte Properties Company plan will be studied by Carmel planning commissioners before a report is made to other county planning agencies.

Referred yesterday afternoon to the commission's design review committee for study and report on June 15 was a request from Tidewater Oil Company to rebuild an existing service station at the northeast corner of San Carlos and Sixth. Robert Green, speaking for the oil company, said the construction "would provide more modern, safe and competitive facilities in your city."

By adopting a report of its design review committee, the commission approved the need of "removable and intermittent signs for motels and apartments, such as those that say "vacancy." However, the commission decided each of such signs should be submitted to the design review committee for approval and that the building inspector should inform the owners of such premises of this fact.
